3 July 2017

Dear Parents

As you may be aware, the NSPCC is currently running 'Share Aware' and 'Protect and Respect' campaigns.

The NSPCC have teamed up with O₂ as part of the 'Share Aware' campaign, as part of this, O₂ will offer free advice to all parents - whether you are a O₂ customer or not - to help keep children safer online. Just call into your local O₂ store for advice on setting up appropriate privacy and parental controls.

The NSPCC have been invited into Saint Margaret's Academy to raise awareness of this issue and the issue of Child Sexual Exploitation.

We will be talking to all of the children about staying safer online and to raise their own awareness of the issues around Child Sexual Exploitation and the distribution of sexual images via social media.

The NSPCC will be in School to deliver these sessions on Friday 7th July 2017.

If you do not wish your child to take part in the assembly please contact School before Friday.

Yours sincerely,
Protect & Respect Team
